Compulsory REVISION comments
Minor REVISION comments	This article is appreciated for its significance for the small dairy unites specially in the developing country I ask the author if he can make discussion with other available literatures specially other developing country having the same economic condition and same pattern of dairy production Author should mentioned the biostatistics programs used Author should change the tables into columns or other charts to help the understanding of data collected and presented But finally I recommend the acceptance of the manuscript for its significance and important for the future planning of dairy production	Thank you for so much for your valuable comments. I searched many article regarding the economic condition and pattern of dairy production but I did not get any article which is matching or related to my result in the any developing country. I thought the performanceof dairy industry is directly related to the climate of that region and many other factors. Sorry sir, I did not get this Yes sir I accepted and correct it. Thank you sir.
