

Editor's Comment:

According to the peer review procedure all points and remarks made by the reviewers were covered by authors. The manuscript sounds interesting in the field of honey. So, I recommend it for further publication in the Asian Journal of Research in Zoology.

Only some very minor points should be corrected in abstract where parenthesis in maximum values should be ommtted and references in the reference section should not contain a bracket but only number.

Editor's Details:

Dr. George P. Laliotis

Assistant Professor, Agricultural University of Athens, Greece