

Editor's Comment:

I have the impression that the authors did not comply completely with the suggestions proposed by the reviewer. For example the reviewer suggested that "authors should have specified any reference just after its citation, to ease the review: instead of several references at the end of a long paragraph". In my opinion this was not followed by the author(s). I would like to have all the modifications marked in red in the revised text instead of the answer "Necessary correction has been done".
