

Editor's Comment:

The author could not answer the reviewer comments: "Research shows that fertilizing by composting irradiation improves the quality of the vegetative parts, but not that residues can remain accumulated in various organs or soil. In the long term, which it would be the consequences on the soil?"

Which need to be specified about the effect of irradiation compost on soil health, which I think will be another big study as author mentioned.

I am requesting to proof read for the English language especially with plural word and verb type like is, are, was and were. I hope authors are familiar with spell check option in word document, they should use to correct all the spelling mistake.

Second reviewer comment for adding standard error- the author could able to use MS-excel where standard error can be calculated.

Most of the comments of reviewer are satisfied for this paper. This paper still need proof read to go before publication.
