PART 1: Review Comments

| | Reviewer's comment | Author's comment (if agreed with reviewer, correct the manuscript and highlight that part in the manuscript. It is mandatory that authors should write his/her feedback here) |
|-------------------------------------|--|---|
| Compulsory REVISION comments | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Even if the abstract contains more informations about obtaining nanoparticles from plants, only a few lines are written in the text. Thus, I think that this subject should be insisted on, mentioning among other informations, the compounds that participate in the process of obtaining and examples from the literature. Regarding the characterization part of the nanoparticles, the first title is about the microscopic methods, and the first paragraph contains more informations about UV spectroscopy, which is not mentioned. The applications are very poorly presented. In the bibliography, the references are not presented in the same manner. The bibliography is old, out of the 50 references, only 5 are from the last 10 years. Also, there are references that are repeated, one of them even 4 times, with different numbers. | |
| Minor REVISION comments | | |
| Optional/General comments | Being a review, more details and examples on the topics addressed and a majority bibliography of the last 5 years to keep up to date the readers, are necessary | |

PART 2:

| | Reviewer's comment | Author's comment (if agreed with reviewer, correct the manuscript and highlight that part in the manuscript. It is mandatory that authors should write his/her feedback here) |
