Compulsory REVISION comments	The intention behind the article is satisfactory, however, the write up, research methods, use of terms is not satisfactory. The article fails to imply what is being researched and connect different sections of the same. Some important observations are: Basis for 'non-compliance' is not sound, needs to be supported with either theory or medical facts. Please cite the full form of the abbreviation, where it first appears, to eradicate ambiguity in reading. No clarity about ART and PLWHA, neither the full forms nor the purpose they serve in this work. Computation of sample size is irrelevant when entire population size is 379. There is mismatch between duration suggested in Abstract and specified in RM. The article can be published, provided the author rewrites the Introduction to include description of ART and PLWHA.
