Compulsory REVISION comments
Minor REVISION comments	Personally, I am very impressed by this research work, the researcher isolated the microorganisms using standard methods i.e using both biochemical and molecular methods that are important for confirmation. I think the researcher is coming with efficient and eco-friendly solution. However, there are very minor corrections like writing scientific names of the bacteria, word spacing and on your discussion part if it is possible try to compare and contrast your findings with the work of others, yes there is but you can add more. The other critical issue is, ethical consideration. You have to consider it
Optional/General comments
