

Editor's Comment:

I have examined the manuscript titled "An analysis of the factors that contribute to late focused Antenatal Clinic (FANC) booking for pregnant women attending Hartcliffe Polyclinic in Zimbabwe". I have also looked at all the review documents and the revised manuscript. Sufficient revision has been made, but this has rendered the abstract too long and the "recommendation" added is not in our journal format. It appears to repeat the conclusion.

I hereby suggest that the authors be made to remove the "recommendation" from the abstract and revise the abstract a bit as it appears too long (This can also be done as editorial formatting, only for the authors to accept). When this is done, my decision on the submitted manuscript is ACCEPT for publication, subject to abstract presentation in journal format.
