

Editor's Comment:

After reading the revised version of the manuscript 2021/JEAI/66814, I consider that the authors did not follow all the reviewers suggestions. One of the reviewers suggested that the authors should explore the state of the art further in the introduction, which was not explored in the revised version. The authors only changed some references and did not improve the introduction. The results and discussion section is really very confused. In my opinion some parts of the discussion are actually a review of the literature, without a real data discussion, which should be avoided. And finally, the authors did not reformulate the conclusions, as suggested by one of the reviewers.

Therefore, I conclude that the manuscript still needs improvement and can't be accepted in this revised version.

Editor's Details:

Dr. Renata Guimarães Moreira-Whitton
Professor, Cidade Universitária, Brazil