In my point of view, it informs in the M&amp;M about the initial weight of the fish, as well as the evaluated period, 12 weeks. So, it is essential to insert the animals' weight at the end of the test, exactly because it was at the end that there was, in fact, the biochemical analysis presented in the article.	At the end of the test, fish weight ranged from 39.33g in group fed with coconut oil-based diet to 56.42g in those fed with palm oil diet.
