Compulsory REVISION comments	The title of the submitted article entitled "Role of Oats in ameliorating hepatic and renal toxicity induced by acute Lead oxide nanoparticles in male rats" sounds very good and seems the research work would be helpful for further research progression on proposed topic. However, the authors are suggested to clarify the comments below and resubmit the article. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. The authors are suggested to review and rewrite the manuscript. Some sentences are repeated in the manuscript. For example, in the abstract section, the last three lines of the result section are the same as the conclusion section.</li> <li>2. Please confirm either your study material is lead nanoparticle or lead oxide nanoparticle, throughout the manuscript it is puzzling.</li> <li>3. Please provide the animal ethical certification as attached file, approved by the corresponding committee.</li> <li>4. The study of morphological changes upon nanoparticle treatment would be a good addition for understanding the proposed research. Therefore, the authors are requested to provide some images, comparing the changes in the treated conditions by controls.</li> </ol>
