Introduction : The author must correct the sequence of reference numbers within the text . <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - The aim of the study must be included at the end of introduction 3- Methods employed; there is no need to list the steps of preformulation study , each step must be directly titled and explained. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - What are the objectives from preformulation study in general , since captopril is an old drug and many previous preformulation studies were done . What the additional informations obtained from this study?? - concerning solubility write the number on which the author relay to determine the solubility? - The author mentioned that preformulation solubility study was done using different solvents . why ? and where is the results of such study?? - Under the title of general methods of preparation; the author talk about the active ingredient (if water soluble) why if ?? What are the results of solubility study?? After such study the author must confirm that the active ingredient either soluble or insoluble. 4- Results and discussion ; the author must discuss the limitation and specification of F2 formula. 5- References: The author must add other recent references and numbering those listed in the study . All mentioned references were published before 2017.
Minor REVISION comments	1-Re write the advantages and disadvantages of mouth dissolving film better to explained and included within the text of introduction. 2- The points in Figure 1 not clear and in general there is no need for this figure, since captopril not a new drug it was extensively studied before. 3- Under the title Percentage elongation of the films: the number 03 must be clarified whether its 3 or 0.03 4-Why the author choose this dosage form for such drug . Where similar study was published at 2015.
